

Taylor Public Library Zinio

How to get started: Go to the link below—this is the subscription offerings just for patrons of the Taylor Public Library.

<https://www.rbdigital.com/taylorx/service/zinio/landing>

This link takes you to the Taylor Public Library RBDigital Gateway for our 13 magazine titles. Click the “Create New Account” option in the upper right of the screen.

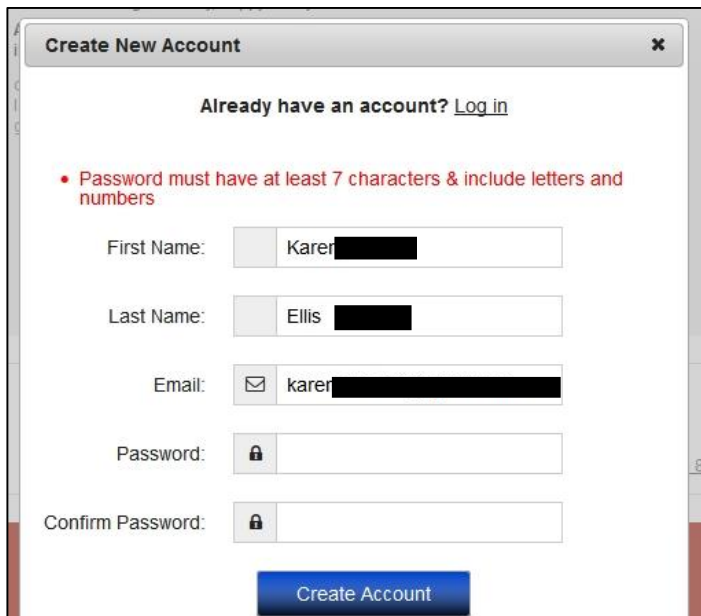

From here a pop-up window will open asking for your Taylor Public Library card number. You will type in the first 13 numbers, leaving off the last number or character: 2##### #.

Next you have to create an account with the Taylor Public Library RBDigital Gateway. This will be the site where you can select the Library's purchased magazines. This is one of two sites that you must use to access our digital magazine selections.

You have to put the following information:

First Name

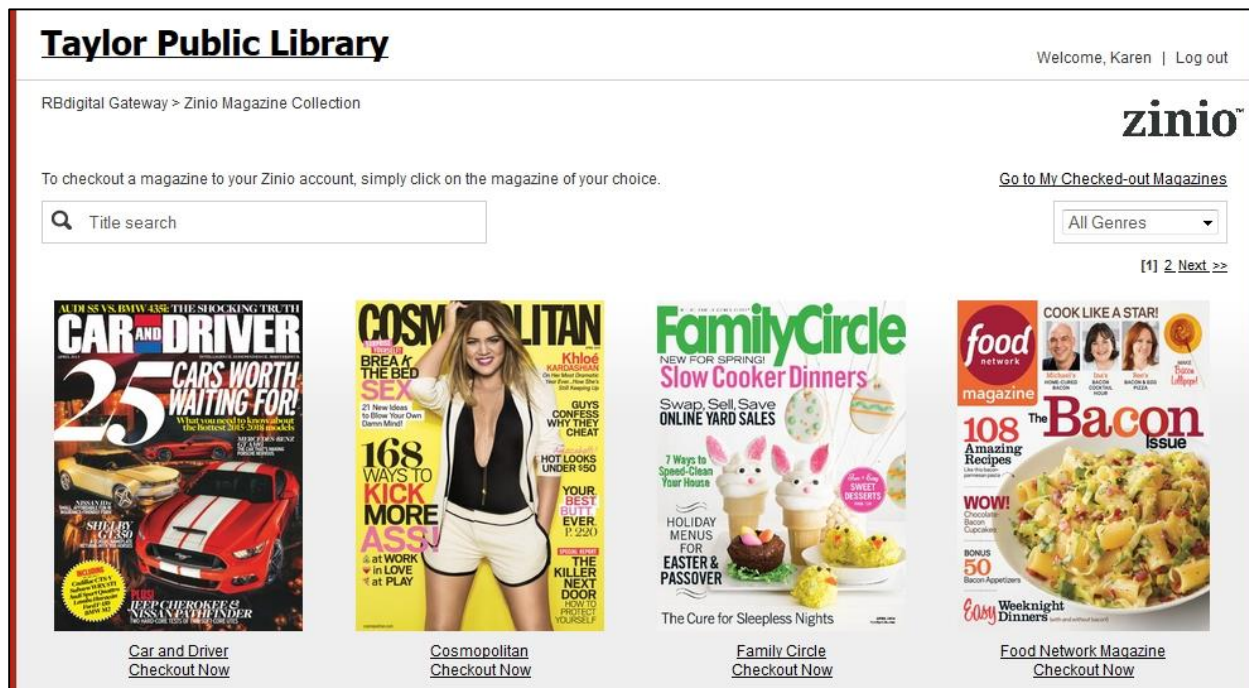

Last Name

E-mail Address

7 character password (numbers and/or letters)

If you forget your password, the Library has no access to it. That's why you must have an e-mail address. Forgotten passwords are sent via email.

Once you have created an account, or signed in with an existing account, you can select magazines to check out on your account. You must be in the Taylor Public Library RBDigital Gateway to check out our free magazine!

What Checkout looks like:

Click on the “Checkout Now” link under the cover of the selected magazine. That will open a window for that magazine with a blue Checkout button.

The screenshot shows the Taylor Public Library Zinio Magazine Collection page. The header includes the library name and a user login. The breadcrumb trail indicates the path: RBdigital Gateway > Zinio Magazine Collection > National Geographic Interactive. The page features a search bar, a genre filter set to 'All Genres', and a 'Go to My Checked-out Magazines' link. The main content area displays the cover of National Geographic Interactive magazine for March 01, 2014, with a 'Checkout' button highlighted by a red rectangle. The button text is 'Checkout'. Below the cover, there is a description of the magazine's content and a list of available devices. The footer contains the RBdigital logo and links for help and terms of use.

After clicking the Checkout button, you get a pop up window confirming your selection. You now have the option to “Keep Browsing” which takes you back to the list OR you can select “Start Reading” which takes to the Zinio platform page.

Note that if you accidentally try to check out a magazine that you’ve already checked out, you will be reminded that you already have that item checked out.

Zinio Page

This is where you go to actually read your magazines. Unfortunately that means there are two sites, two log-in's. So you must create an account on Zinio.

How do you get to the Zinio site? You can download a free Zinio app on your tablet or phone, or go to the Zinio website (www.zinio.com) or link to it when you select "Start Reading" after checking out a magazine on the Taylor Public Library RBDigital Gateway.

Once there, check the "Sign up" selection on the top right of the screen. That opens another window.

Yes, again you have to create a Zinio account. You will have a Taylor Public Library RBDigital Gateway account AND a Zinio account. Use all the same information to create your Zinio account.

The same applies when you install the Zinio app—you'll have to create an account if you haven't already.

Also note the little check box at the bottom of the form—if you don't want to get e-mail from Zinio, uncheck the box.

Once you've registered on Zinio, you can just sign back in with your e-mail and password upon your return visit.

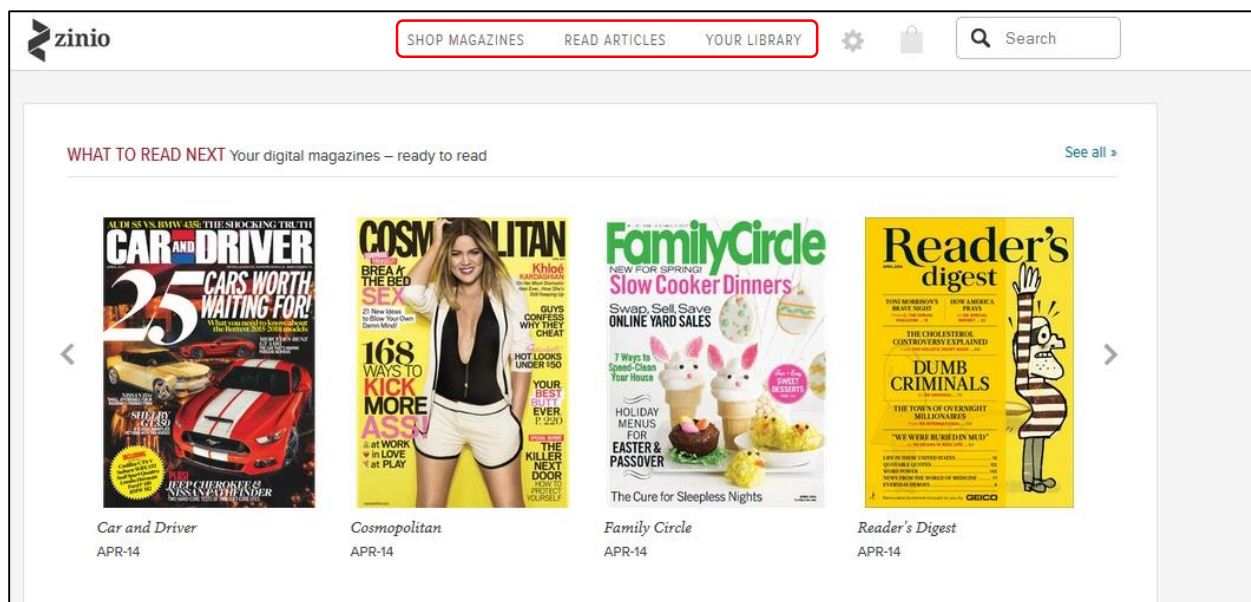

Now you've registered and/or signed in, you get your list of checked-out magazines. However, that not all that you'll will see. On the top of the page, there are three selections:

SHOP MAGAZINES: Yes, if you want to purchase other titles from Zinio, they will happily ask you to pay for them. Only the TPL subscriptions are free for library card holders.

READ ARTICLES: This will open up a selection of articles, but not the full magazine. These selections look like they are free to read. They have nothing to do with Taylor Public Library subscriptions.

YOUR LIBRARY: Yes, these are the magazines you have just checked out from the Taylor Public Library RBDigital Gateway! Click on a selected magazine and let the wonder begin.

Taylor Public Library has paid for 13 magazine for 12 months (staring in March 2014). Those magazines are all represented on the Taylor Public Library RBDigital Gateway.
